Reasons for selecting “Nikkei ESG-REIT Index” as a benchmark

The Nikkei ESG-REIT Index is Japan's first J-REIT index*<sup>1</sup> that is calculated by adding the factor of "ESG initiatives," and is an index based on the aggregate market value × ESG coefficient weighted method for REITs listed on the Tokyo Stock Exchange, which reflects the assessment points on E (environment), S (society) and G (governance) by GRESB*<sup>2</sup>. The benchmark was selected to provide more ESG-conscious investment opportunities because REITs with higher ESG ratings are more likely to obtain higher weightings.

*1 As of the launch of the fund (based on Nikko Asset Management research.)

*2 GRESB is an organization established in the Netherlands in 2009 by European pension funds to evaluate the ESG performance of the real estate sector based on the environmental performance of properties it owns. ESG evaluations are conducted annually, and a rating (5 levels) is assigned. The evaluation items include the establishment of ESG-related internal rules and regulations, the assignment of managers, information disclosure, and other management systems, as well as efforts to measure and reduce energy consumption and carbon dioxide (CO<sub>2</sub>) emissions of owned properties.

Tax Treatment

Tax treatment for individual investors

1) Taxation upon sale of beneficiary units

- Gains on sale (capital gains) are deemed to be income from transfer and thus have to be filed to declare for separate taxation at 20.315%. When a beneficiary has chosen a designated account with tax withholding (an account with tax withholding at the taxpayer's option), tax will be withheld at source at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.)

2) Taxation upon receipt of income distributions

- Income distributions are regarded as dividend income, and tax is withheld at source at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.) You can also file a tax return, and choose either separated taxation, based on declaration, or consolidated taxation (under which the dividends received deduction is available).

3) Exchanges between the units and REIT securities

- Exchanges of the units for REIT securities are treated as transfers of the units and are handled the same way as sale of units.
- By filing a tax return, you can offset losses upon sale (capital losses) against capital gains from listed stocks, dividends etc. from listed stocks, and interest income from public and corporate bonds and such like (as long as separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration). In addition, gains on sale (capital gains), income distributions, and interest income from public and corporate bonds etc. (if separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration) can be offset against capital losses from listed stocks and such like.
- When investing through the Nippon Individual Savings Account (NISA), dividend income and transfer income from newly purchased publicly offered equity investment trusts are exempt from taxation for an unlimited period up to a certain amount each year. The tax exemption is available only to those who meet certain conditions, such as opening a tax-exempt account with a distributor, and who purchase products that meet the requirements of the tax law. For details, please contact the distributor.
- In cases of being applied to the foreign tax deduction, tax on distributions may differ from the aforementioned descriptions.
- The aforementioned descriptions do not apply to Japanese corporations.
- Above tax rates are as of the date when the securities registration statement was filed, so those may change in the event that tax laws are revised. We recommend that investors consult a tax or similar specialist for details of tax treatment.
