Characteristics of the Fund

- ① Aim to achieve investment result that is linked to the movement of the benchmark index.

The fund will invest mainly in Index Mother Fund Nasdaq-100, with the aim of matching the rate of change in the amount of net assets per unit with the rate of change in the benchmark index

<Currency Hedge>

- The benchmark index to follow is Nasdaq-100 Currency Hedged JPY Index.
- For investing in foreign currency-denominated assets, in principle, currency hedging is carried out
- * Currency hedging is carried out in order to reduce currency fluctuation risk, however, currency fluctuation risk cannot be eliminated completely. When currency hedging is carried out, if the yen interest rate is lower than the interest rate of the currency for which hedging is carried out, a hedge cost is incurred.

<No Currency Hedge>

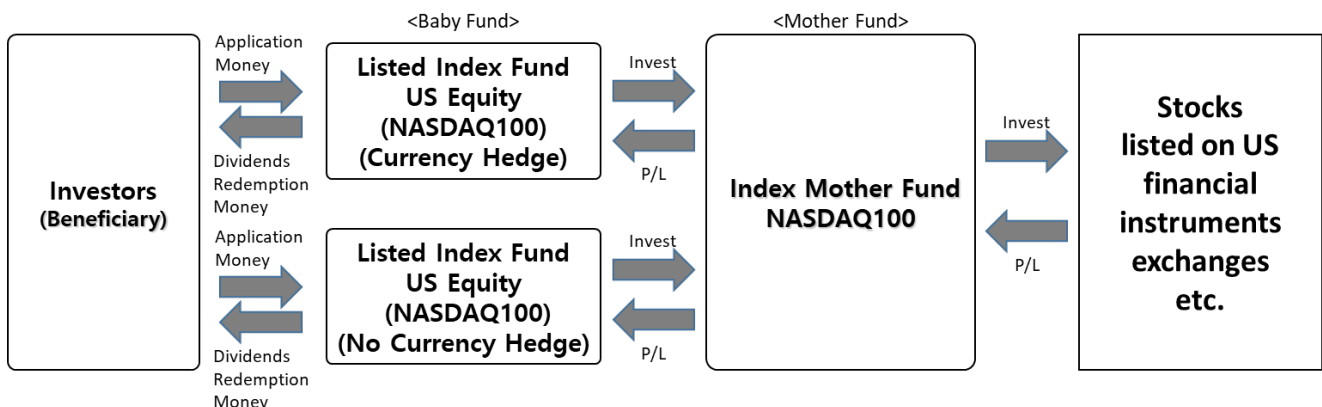

- The benchmark index to follow is Nasdaq-100 Yen-converted Index.

- * The above operation may not be possible due to market conditions and financial trends.

- ② Units are listed on Tokyo Stock Exchange and can be traded at any time during trading hours.

- Units may be traded in blocks of 10 unit (as of the date when the securities registration statement was filed).
- Brokers determine brokerage commissions.
- The method of trading is generally the same as that for stocks.
- * Please contact your broker for further information.

Fund Structure

Major Investment Restrictions

- There is no restriction on the investment ratio in stocks.
- There is no restriction as to the investment ratio for assets denominated in foreign currencies.

Distribution Policy

- As a general rule, the full amount of dividends and other income arising from the trust assets is distributed after deduction of expenses.

*There is no guarantee on the payment or the amount of dividend.

Investment Risks

The major risks associated with investment in the Fund are outlined below. Investors should ensure they carefully examine and understand fully these risks before deciding to subscribe to units of the Fund.

Factors that contribute to NAV volatility

Investors are not guaranteed the investment principal that they commit. Investors may incur a loss and the value of their investment principal may fall below par as the result of a decline in NAV. All profits and losses arising from investments in the Fund belong to the investors (beneficiaries). This fund is different from saving deposit.

The Fund invests primarily in stocks. The NAV of the Fund may fall and investors may suffer a loss due to a decline in stock prices or deterioration in the financial conditions and business performance of an equity issuer. Losses may also be incurred due to exchange rate fluctuation when investing in assets denominated in foreign currencies.

Major risks are as follows:

Price Fluctuation Risk

- Stock prices fluctuate due to the changes in the information of the company's growth and profitability, and any changes in such information. They also fluctuate as they are affected by economic and political conditions in Japan and abroad. There is a risk that the Fund may incur material losses if unexpected changes occur in stock price movements or liquidity.

Liquidity Risk

- There is a risk that the Fund will incur unexpected losses when the market size or trading volumes is small. The purchase and sale prices of securities are influenced by the trading volume, resulting in the inability of the Fund to sell certain stocks in its portfolio at prices that are expected to be realized in light of the prevailing market trend, that a security can sold as appraised, or that the transaction volume is limited regardless of the price levels.

Credit Risk

- There is a risk that the Fund will incur material losses in the event of a serious crisis that directly or indirectly affects the business of a corporation in which the Fund invests. The prices of stocks of issuers may substantially decline (possibly to zero) due to fears of default or corporate bankruptcy, which can contribute to decline in the Fund's NAV.

Currency Fluctuation Risk

◆ Currency Hedge

- For foreign currency-denominated assets, in principle, currency hedging is carried out in order to reduce currency fluctuation risk. However, currency fluctuation risk cannot be eliminated completely. When currency hedging is carried out, if the yen interest rate is lower than the interest rate of the currency for which hedging is carried out, a hedge cost equivalent to the difference in interest rates is incurred. Hedge costs for currency hedging may be higher than anticipated depending on currency and interest rate trends.

◆ No Currency Hedge

- For foreign-currency-denominated assets, in general, if the yen is stronger than the currencies of such assets, the fund's NAV will decline.

◆ Currency Hedge

<Major discrepancy factors for the Nasdaq-100 Currency Hedged JPY Index and NAV>

Whereas the Fund seeks to match the NAV volatility with that of the Nasdaq-100 Currency Hedged JPY Index, it does not guarantee movements that are identical to those of the Index for the following reasons:

- The potential investment in selected issues other than the Nasdaq-100 Currency Hedged JPY Index, potential market impact from the trading, etc., of individual issues when portfolio adjustments are made due to changes in selected issues on the Nasdaq-100 Currency Hedged JPY Index or capital transfers, or costs borne by the Fund such as trust fees, brokerage commission, and audit costs, etc.
- The timing and amount of payment for the distribution of the Fund will not be completely the same as the distribution from the underlying stocks.
- When derivative transactions such as futures are made, there may be disparity between the price movements of all or some of such transactions and that of the Nasdaq-100 Currency Hedged JPY Index.

◆ No Currency Hedge

<Major discrepancy factors for the Nasdaq-100 Yen-converted Index and NAV>

Whereas the Fund seeks to match the NAV volatility with that of the Nasdaq-100 Yen-converted Index, it does not guarantee movements that are identical to those of the Index for the following reasons:

- The potential investment in selected issues other than the Nasdaq-100 Yen-converted Index, potential market impact from the trading, etc., of individual issues when portfolio adjustments are made due to changes in selected issues on the Nasdaq-100 Yen-converted Index or capital transfers, or costs borne by the Fund such as trust fees, brokerage commission, and audit costs, etc.
- The timing and amount of payment for the distribution of the Fund will not be completely the same as the distribution from the underlying stocks.
- When derivative transactions such as futures are made, there may be disparity between the price movements of all or some of such transactions and that of the Nasdaq-100 Yen-converted Index.

◇ Discrepancy between the market prices at which stocks are traded on financial instruments exchanges and the NAV

The Fund is listed on the Tokyo Stock Exchange and the units are traded on that exchange. The market price of the units is affected primarily by the demand for the Fund, its performance, and how attractive it is to investors in comparison with their other investments. It is not possible to predict whether the units will sell in the market above or below the NAV.

* The factors that contribute to fluctuations in the NAV are not limited to those listed above.

Additional Considerations

- The provisions stipulated in Article 37-6 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (the “cooling-off period”) are not applicable to Fund transactions.
- This Fund differs from deposits or insurance policies in that it is not protected by the Deposit Insurance Corporation of Japan or the Policyholders Protection Corporation of Japan. Nor are investment trusts protected by investor protection funds when purchased at banks or other registered financial institutions.

Risk Management System

- The departments in charge of risk management and compliance, which are independent from fund management departments, evaluate and analyze risks and performance, risk management, and monitor the status of legal compliance.
- To maintain an appropriate management system, the departments in charge of risk management and compliance report and make proposals to the committees associated with risk management and compliance, and instruct fund management departments to take corrective actions as necessary.

*The system described above is as of the end of January 2021, and may be subject to change in the future.

Tax Treatment

Tax treatment for individual investors

1) Taxation upon sale of Units

- Gains on sale (capital gains) are deemed to be income from transfer and thus have to be filed to declare for separate taxation at 20.315%. When a beneficiary has chosen a designated account with tax withholding (an account with tax withholding at the taxpayer's position), tax will be withheld at sources at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.)

2) Taxation upon receipt of income distributions

- Income distributions are regarded as dividend income, and tax is withheld at source at 20.315%. (As a general rule, tax filing is not necessary.) You can also file a tax return, and choose either separated taxation, based on declaration, or consolidated taxation (under which the dividends received deduction is available).

3) Tax on Redemption and Termination Fee

- Gains on termination and redemption (capital gains) are deemed to be income from transfer and thus have to be filed to declare for separate taxation at 20.315%. When a beneficiary has chosen a designated account with tax withholding (an account with tax withholding at the taxpayer's position), tax will be withheld at sources at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.)
- By filing a tax return, you can offset losses upon sale (capital losses) against capital gains from listed stocks, dividends etc. from listed stocks, and interest income from public and corporate bonds and such like (as long as separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration). In addition, gains on sale (capital gains), income distributions, and interest income from public and corporate bonds etc. (if separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration) can be offset against capital losses from listed stocks and such like.
- When investing through a Nippon Individual Savings Account (NISA), income gains and capital gains from the investments in Publicly-offered Equity Investment Trusts will be tax-free for five years if the investments have been newly purchased within 1.2 million yen per year. Investors need to meet certain conditions, such as aged 20 or above, having opened a tax-free account at a Distributor. In addition, when investing through a Junior NISA, income gains and capital gains from the investments in Publicly-offered Equity Investment Trusts will be tax-free for the next five years for those under 20 years old as long as the newly purchased investment amount is less than 0.8 million yen every year. For further details, please contact a Distributor.
- In cases of being applied to the foreign tax deduction, tax on distributions may differ from the aforementioned descriptions.
- The aforementioned descriptions do not apply to Japanese corporations.
- Above tax rates are as of April 8, 2021, so there may change in the event that tax laws are revised. We recommend that investors consult a tax or similar specialist for details of tax treatment.
