Tax Treatment

Tax treatment for individual investors

1) Taxation upon sale of Units

- Gains on sale (capital gains) are deemed to be income from transfer and thus have to be filed to declare for separate taxation at 20.315%. When a beneficiary has chosen a designated account with tax withholding (an account with tax withholding at the taxpayer's position), tax will be withheld at sources at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.)

2) Taxation upon receipt of income distributions

- Income distributions are regarded as dividend income, and tax is withheld at source at 20.315%. (As a general rule, tax filing is not necessary.) You can also file a tax return, and choose either separated taxation, based on declaration, or consolidated taxation (under which the dividends received deduction is available).

3) Tax on Redemption and Termination Fee

- Gains on termination and redemption (capital gains) are deemed to be income from transfer and thus have to be filed to declare for separate taxation at 20.315%. When a beneficiary has chosen a designated account with tax withholding (an account with tax withholding at the taxpayer's position), tax will be withheld at sources at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.)
- By filing a tax return, you can offset losses upon sale (capital losses) against capital gains from listed stocks, dividends etc. from listed stocks, and interest income from public and corporate bonds and such like (as long as separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration). In addition, gains on sale (capital gains), income distributions, and interest income from public and corporate bonds etc. (if separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration) can be offset against capital losses from listed stocks and such like.
- When investing through a Nippon Individual Savings Account (NISA) and a Nippon Individual Savings Account for junior (Junior NISA), income gains and capital gains from the investments in Publicly-offered Equity Investment Trusts will be tax-free for a given period if the investments have been newly purchased within a certain amount every year. Investors need to meet certain conditions, such as having opened a tax-free account at a Distributor. In addition, dividend income and income from transfer which arose from the other account cannot be offset against losses from a NISA account. For further details, please contact a Distributor.
- From January 1, 2024, dividend income and transfer income from newly purchased publicly offered equity investment trusts are exempt from taxation for an unlimited period up to a certain amount each year. The tax exemption is available only to those who meet certain conditions, such as opening a tax-exempt account with a distributor, and who purchase products that meet the requirements of the tax law. For details, please contact the distributor.
- In cases of being applied to the foreign tax deduction, tax on distributions may differ from the aforementioned descriptions.
- The aforementioned descriptions do not apply to Japanese corporations.
- Above tax rates are as of the date when the securities registration statement was filed, so there may change in the event that tax laws are revised. We recommend that investors consult a tax or similar specialist for details of tax treatment.
